

CALL FOR PAPERS

International Conference

Development Research and Training (DRT)¹, the Chronic Poverty Research Centre (CPRC)² and the Brooks World Poverty Institute³ are pleased to announce a co-hosted international conference on Social Protection for the Poorest in Africa – Learning from Experience, to take place from the 8-10th September 2008 in Kampala, Uganda.

The conference will bring together practitioners, researchers and policy-makers involved in the development, design, and implementation of social protection programmes, particularly those addressing extreme and chronic poverty, with the aim of learning from existing programmes and informing the extension of social protection in Africa.

The conference will focus on five main questions:

1. What are constraints and opportunities involved in developing sustainable political support for social protection in Africa?
2. What might be considered an effective mix of instruments in any given situation of extreme or chronic poverty?
3. How can we achieve the right scale of implementation of social protection interventions?
4. What is required to secure a shift from the current emphasis on single instruments to integrated social protection programs fully embedded in mainstream development strategy?
5. How can the extension of social protection in Africa be financed?

The Conference, Social Protection for the Poorest in Africa – Learning from Experience will be held over a period of three days with a total of 80-100 delegates. Days 1 and 2 will consist of plenary sessions and themed sessions while the final day will be set aside for a high-level Round Table, designed to report on and disseminate the Conference findings, engage with regional and international organizations, and ensure national and international media coverage.

Paper Submission Guidelines

All participants are expected to contribute a 10 page paper. A sub-set of papers will be selected for presentation at the Conference, but all will be made available on the internet and will appear in the proceedings that will be published by CPRC and DRT in the format
